MUSEUM EDUCATION ROUNDTABLE
PO Box 15727
Washington, DC 20003

Join a dedicated group of museum educators! Since 1969, the Museum Education Roundtable has published the Journal of Museum Education, provided professional development opportunities and fostered an active communications network for museum educators.

MUSEUM EDUCATION ROUNDTABLE

A nonprofit, volunteer organization, the Museum Education Roundtable

- encourages leadership, scholarship, and research in museum-based learning
- fosters professionalism among museum educators
- provides for exchanges of ideas through programs and publications

JOURNAL OF MUSEUM EDUCATION

MER publishes the Journal of Museum Education, the only journal printed in the United States that is devoted to the theory and practice of museum education. Written by museum and education professionals, Journal articles explore innovations in the field of museum education, teaching strategies for use in museums and other informal learning environments, visitor research, and evaluation.

All MER members receive a subscription to the Journal, which is published three times each year.

MER has produced three collections of Journal articles: Transforming Practice (1992-1999); Patterns in Practice (1984-1992); and Museum Education Anthology, Perspectives on Informal Learning: A Decade of Roundtable Reports 1973-1983.

NETWORK

In addition to the Journal, MER members receive an e-newsletter, Network, delivered to your inbox every four months. Share information on new initiatives underway at your site, read about the work of your colleagues, and find out about upcoming MER events.

PROGRAMS

MER offers forums for discussing issues addressed in recent issues of the Journal. Programs and workshops are held at regional and national venues, including the American Association of Museums Annual Meeting and local museum education roundtables. Program summaries appear in Network.
